

Western New York Celebrates

Shining a spotlight on effective education options for every child

www.putkidsfirst.com

School choice advocates and organizations, grassroots networks, parents and students across the country are busy preparing for the second annual National School Choice Week scheduled for January 22-28, 2012.

National School Choice Week believes that parents should be empowered to choose the best educational environments for their children and supports a variety of school choice options - from encouraging increased access to great public schools, to public charter schools, magnet schools, virtual schools, private schools, homeschooling and more.
